Describe Your Artwork/Performance Style:

My artwork is singing!

When did you start making your art? Why?

I have been singing my entire life, but I starting taking my art more seriously when I was in high school. After discovering my passion for music through participating in musicals at my high school as well taking vocal lessons, I decided that I wanted to pursue professional singing in college.

What is your inspiration?

My inspiration comes from anyone and everyone who is pursuing their passion. Seeing others do what they love only makes me more determined to put my passion for singing out into the world for others to enjoy.

Do you make a living with your art?

Not currently!

What are your current non-art jobs?

I am a full time Vocal Performance student at Salisbury University. I also work as a part time barista in the Barnes and Noble Café.

Who is your favorite artist and why?

My favorite artist has to be Paul McCartney. It is incredibly inspiring to see someone fulfill their dreams and to still enjoy performing after nearly 60 years.

Where in the community can you be seen performing?

You can see me next as Cathy Hiatt in Community Player's production of "The Last Five Years"!

Describe Your Artwork/Performance Style:

I'm an actor. I like to make art by becoming another character.

When did you start making your art? Why?

My first acting role was in my fourth grade musical. I fell in love and I did every school show through high school and started with community work in ninth grade. I loved making audiences clap and cheer, and to a 9 year old in a musical, that was the most gratifying thing. As I matured, I realized my joy lies in the process of getting the audience to that point of enjoyment.

What is your inspiration?

I want to imbue others with the same joy I felt when I first started to experience theatre. Every new production I see is something unique and different. If I can evoke that same feeling from an audience member, my job as an artist is complete.

Do you make a living with your art?

Hopefully one day!

What are your current non-art jobs?

Well, my current job is actually in the arts. I work in the Scene Shop on SU's campus.

Who is your favorite artist and why?

Jeremy Jordan. He's played roles on Broadway that I would love to one day play myself. I've loved him in everything I've seen or heard him in. He fully puts himself into his characters and it's great to see.

Where in the community can you be seen performing?

I'll be in the next Community Player's production of The Last Five Years!
